News & Field Reports for The Warrior Class for Graham Cooke

August 2013

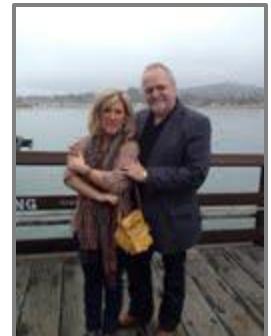

Aglow Game Changers - Dallas TX June 27-30, 2013

"Game Changers are learning to step into their truest identity and help others to do the same. Every region in Aglow will change because there are Game Changers in place. You will create a new warrior language and release an elevated perspective that will change everything..."

You are the first fruits of a new move in Aglow. As first-born, you have a responsibility to rise up into your freedom. Then you have a responsibility to become a Game Changer in your region....

Leaders must be the greatest freedom givers of all. Our job is to give the gift of freedom and resources to impart a spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of God."

What a tremendous, historic event and what an honor and privilege to be a part!

I subscribe to the idea that, "There is no breakthrough without follow through." That is, no breakthrough can be maintained beyond its initial experience without ongoing follow through. The converse of that concept is also true, however. There can be no opportunity for follow through in upgrades to life, without an initial breakthrough experience. 21st Century Game Changers was a breakthrough event, that opened vast swathes of new territory for occupation.

This was my first time to lead worship in a lecture hall setting. My first time to write songs specifically focused on the training for a particular event. And my first time to have worshipers climbing up on table tops, in order to express the height of their praise to our King. It was wonderful!

Graham's teaching was insightful and brilliantly delivered - and I loved the synergy between the worship and teaching. This is a fresh level of territory for us that we are looking to explore at greater depth in the months ahead.

Jane, Tony, Kathy, Linda, Kay and the rest of the Aglow leadership are delightful, generous and a joy to begin getting to know. I love the way they are intentionally embracing the process of reinvention. In an organization this large, with an influential and productive history, this is not a quick or easy task - but they are moving into their future with wisdom and perseverance. They are committed to changing the game for the sake of the Kingdom, rather than resting on their laurels. Bravo!

I look forward to watching the ripples spread from the impact of this event...

"Santa Barbara School of Prophecy"

Santa Barbara School of Prophecy

"An Old Testament prophet looked to put something into you. A New Testament prophet speaks to the inner man and causes him to rise up and see something different on the inside."

~ Graham Cooke Santa Barbara School of Prophecy - Session 2

It was a beautiful evening in Santa Barbara on July 17th as we prepared for the second session of the School of Prophecy. Several TWC members were on site to prepare the atmosphere with quiet intercession before we began. Bob Book went for it in worship with joy and passion. Then it was time for Graham to speak to a packed house.

I've not heard Graham's new prophetic series. My last experience with his prophetic school teaching was in 2006-07. Those were amazing sessions then that changed everything for me about the prophetic. But the upgrades in Graham's revelation and the impact of the truth that he is now presenting is stunning. The first 45 minutes, especially, were like being wonderfully pummeled with truth that could only be absorbed, not recorded. It will take some time to unwrap. Having only a month before the next session will certainly not be enough.

Thank you for your continued prayers for this school that is breaking new ground in Santa Barbara. People here are sorting, absorbing and deciding what to do with a whole new realm of possibilities. There's lots of territory on offer.

Member Testimony

"Oh the riches of Santa Barbara! Graham quoted from John, "He must increase, I must decrease" and described how the prophetic as it had been known gave way to the prophetic in Jesus...from a visitation culture to a habitation culture.

This is good news and speaks of freedom for me personally. To push away my striving and to live from His nature that benefits me and those who I come in contact with. It's a no brainer...straight from the heart!

This is going to be great fun for Graham as a prophet of restoration and renewal for such a time as this."

Water of Life Church - Fontana July 21-22, 2013

In April, Graham spent time with the leadership of this community in a day of excellent meetings. This was a return trip to introduce the rest of the Water of Life community to more Brilliant Thinking.

It's a large community to be introduced to! There were four services, beginning Saturday night through Sunday afternoon, and at each service the large auditorium was filled to overflowing. Each meeting was broadcast to other Water of Life locations in nearby communities. At the end of the time, I would estimate that 4,000 to 5,000 people heard Graham's message.

And what an awesome message it was! The beginning and end of each talk was bookended by Isaiah 61 ("Turning Passivity into Prophecy"). Graham found a way to give the same message in four different flavors. And to me, being able to listen to all four (it's good to be me!) it was a master class in taking territory in increments.

Though the audience changed, the difference in communicating the Good News of the gospel was stronger and deeper each time. Just when they were laughing, a powerful new truth was released with laser clarity that shifted mindsets, inviting them to "have another thought". Chains were loosening. Light was shining brighter. Pretty cool to watch!

It was a unique set of meetings and Graham delivered an equally unique approach to them. The vast majority of people attending were hearing him for the first time, many of whom are just beginning to grasp who the Holy Spirit is.

In talking with people at the product table, my overwhelming sense was that people were hopeful and intrigued. Yes, life with God could really be like this!

That's good news.

Thursday night's talk was a dagger to the religious spirit. Graham gave a small intro to what he will be sharing in "The Mind of a Saint". It was like "shell shock and wonder" as people were getting freed up from religious thinking. You could almost see the change taking place: Is God really that good? You mean I don't have to keep fighting this losing battle with my old self? You mean the old self is dead and I get to be somebody new? Heaven sees me like what??

Could that be true, it sounds true...(religious clogs cracking and disintegrating)... It was incredible to see people being transformed and set free.

Friday night was totally different, and all about the fruit of the Spirit. It is one of those teachings that you can listen to repeatedly for 3 months, and will take multiple chapters of your life to live out. It was a very transforming 2 days. I got to see all the prayers of the TWC changing the atmosphere and impacting peoples lives as Graham effectively kicked ass at his assignment in Spokane. His bride is awaking to who she really is!

NEW Area of TWC Coverage: Bob Book

by: Allison Bown

As Graham enters the new territory of focusing more on his own events, Bob Book will often be his partner. For years, Bob has led worship for Graham's previous March conferences. Together again, they are forging into a new landscape of weaving brilliant thoughts in worship that reflect the brilliant thoughts Graham imparts in his teaching. It is a unique partnership of words, both spoken and sung.

Since Bob is a key part of creating atmospheres for upcoming events, we want to begin to include him in our intercession. He will be leading worship for the upcoming Portland Session, Santa Barbara School of Prophecy, and Mind of a Saint in October.

Recently, I asked Bob to share some of this thoughts regarding this new venture, and what we can listen, pray and target for breakthrough. Here's what he shared:

If you aren't familiar with Bob's music or are interested in hearing some of his new explorations, visit his Facebook page at:

"My current focus is exploring and deepening the developing synergy between worship, training, and the prophetic in an intentional way. I don't have a lot more specific input on this right now, but I can see a lot of territory to explore. This definitely includes the idea of helping people experience in worship what they learn in the teaching. An example of this was Graham's "introvert vs. extrovert" worship thing recently, when we were in Tofield. It just seemed to be triggered spontaneously by what happened in worship one session, and he just got up and took off with it. Afterward, we talked about what we might be able to do with it. Synergy looks like a two way street, and I think the best discoveries about it are still ahead!"

What atmospheres are you focused on creating?

"Okay, I know this is simple, but it's also profound and all-encompassing to me. There's only one atmosphere that I am focused on creating - the atmosphere of heaven. There is so much to get a handle on in this, and so much to discover, that I find myself approaching this in small practical bites, focused more on how to facilitate this in various situations, than define it. I'm focused way more on experiencing this than defining it. Most of my understanding and definition follows experience in this regard. I am convinced that in any group setting, there is always a personal and corporate element available, but I don't know that I'm sure of much more than that..."

What obstacles do you feel you encounter; and do you have a sense of what God wants to do instead?

"With the exception of some resistance encountered at the Santa Barbara School of Prophecy, I am feeling like I'm simply exploring new territory and learning by what does and doesn't seem to work. It's hard to define obstacles when everything is new and provides learning/discovering opportunities. Things feel pretty wide open right now...how cool is that?"

Prayer at the Baptist Church - Santa Barbara
July 17, 2013

Father here we are. We are so excited!

This is a whole brand new day! We are learning about the Kingdom.

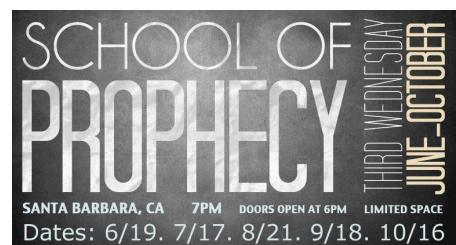

We are all new people. We've all been born again. Our old man is finished. And our new man is here.

And our new man is learning how to see like You, think like You, speak like You, and how to act like You.

We ask a blessing on this house.

We ask for an outpouring of the Spirit

We ask that the Kingdom will come to this church community.

We ask for an explosion of wisdom and revelation that people who belong to this church will have encounters with God and we will fill this place several times over.

We are asking for an unprecedented move of God for this house the like of which they've never seen. We lay hands on these pews and everyone who sits here is going to get touched by Jesus because You Father ...

You will it.

Let it be done in Jesus name - Amen

Letter to The Warrior Class – from Graham

Dear Warrior Class

In 2011 when we did The Art of Thinking Brilliantly, the enemy underestimated what was happening. He failed to show for the fight. We were not opposed. The impact of Thinking Brilliantly has been sensational. Go to the BrilliantBookHouse.com site, click on the art of thinking brilliantly and then click on Reviews and read them. The feedback from that one event has been amazing and ongoing.

The second time around the enemy is ready for us. Mind of a Saint is the next level up from The Art of Thinking Brilliantly. We are experiencing unprecedeted opposition to this event. Literally every step is being challenged. The hotel was a fight. The finances are a fight. The advertising is a huge battle. The marketing for this groundbreaking event is a battle. We are violently opposed on every side. The enemy is doing everything he can to prevent this conference from releasing another famous breakthrough.

This is the best fight I have been in for a long time. The stakes we are playing for are nothing less than the mindset of the conservative evangelical. This is our chance to infiltrate this wonderful part of institutional Christianity. We are committed to this event even if it fails.

We are not thinking of losing. You cannot win if you are afraid to lose. We are determined to drive forward. This event is more important than any other event this year.

This may be the biggest battle that we have ever faced as TWC. I need you all to step up and occupy the place set aside for you in Jesus. I'm excited about this battle. I want it as fiercely as I have ever wanted any fight against an enemy that I have despised for all my spiritual life.

I know your mettle. I know your hunger to express the Lordship and Majesty of Jesus. Join me in what is the biggest battle any of us have ever had in TWC.

I have every confidence that this will be a defining moment for our company. A major upgrade. A huge step up that we had perhaps not anticipated. An unlooked for acceleration.

I would love that for all of us. I'm hungry for this win. It's a Game Changing event. It's of National awakening importance.

Pray with me

Graham
