The Rock Church

Castle Rock, Colorado
September 12-14, 2013

Lots of people reminded me about the prophetic word I gave at this venue in 2012 about the “Water Level Rising” across the State. Colorado has been in a critical drought situation for several years. Fast-forward to this year and the State has had continuous rainfall that has caused flooding in some areas. When the water level rises everyone must seek higher ground, and also take steps that aid water retention.

Graham & Theresa

This is a church, The Rock, which is destined to occupy a high place in this mountainous region. It has all the ingredients to become an apostolic center. Visionary leadership, excellent worship, very good administration and a vibrant community in the area that wants to rise up and occupy some territory.

The first night I spoke on “Understanding Your Spiritual Lens”, a message that is fast taking on an identity as a primer; a pre-cursor to a mind shift and a talk that opens up a door for people to step into a new place of encounter with God. The next four sessions introduced the themes of “Growing Up In God.”

The idea behind this event is that there are four levels of relationship with God that we must experience in our quest to move into abundance, favor and intentional fullness. There are four Greek words that exemplify each of these stages that Jesus and the Apostles used with great intentionality.

These words are: Nepios (baby stage), Paidion (older child), Teknon (youth to young adult) and Huioi (fully mature son). These stages are not defined naturally in that we cannot merely assign an age range to them. Instead, they are defined by specific experiences that God gives us and well defined attributes that we must acquire in order to grow up into Christ in all things.

Nepios is about being secure in the nature of God. Knowing how to receive from God as a gift. Having an ongoing experience of being cleansed and learning dependency, simplicity and trust in the Father meeting our needs and carrying us in His presence.

The key words we learn are; more, up and yes as we learn the art of responding to what God is initiating.

We are introduced to our inheritance and being heirs of God at a young age in the Spirit as God begins the process of training us in favor and privilege in Jesus.

Paidion is the stage where we learn creative thinking as we value wisdom, spiritual appraisal and faith as we practice walking in the Spirit. It is so vital that we lay down the track of wisdom, divine imagination and the importance of dreams and visions that shape our perspective, mindset and language. Being led by the Spirit has its deepest roots in this stage of relationship. Relational thinking in Christ (i.e. a mindset that combines the heart of the Father with the mind of Jesus and the enthusiasm of the Holy Spirit) we cannot access God's realm in fullness. Indeed, failure to learn these powerful lifestyle traits means we will be vulnerable to logic, reason and a rationale that keeps our faith earthbound and holds the Kingdom at arm's length.

The third message in the series is about becoming a Teknon, i.e. someone who habitually and intentionally is growing in favor, promise and identity. We are using all of life's events to promote the above elements into becoming a constant and consistent experience of life in Jesus.

This is a powerful talk that is aimed at provoking an intentional lifestyle of taking advantage of every circumstance to grow in who God is for us and who we are becoming in Him.

Part way through this talk I reference a key scripture, 1 John 3. As I opened my Bible I failed to notice that top, right corner was folded over and I actually read from Hebrews 3 about Christ being the High Priest of our confession. I realized my mistake and was about to correct it when I heard the Holy Spirit laugh and whisper, "Beloved, give me your heart." I had this picture of my heart being a door with a handle on the inside. As I opened this heart shaped door, bright, coruscating light flooded in. I closed my notes and gave an hour-long talk on confession and how sacred it is for our High Priest, Jesus. How He takes our confession and uses it to open us up to alignment, promise and favor. It was powerful and "in the moment." I led people in a prayer of confession at the end. It was dramatic and significant.

The final session concerned the revelation of the Huios, the fully mature son. Being made in the image of Jesus is everything. It's the sole reason behind every difficult circumstance, every possible situation and every relational dynamic. We are being relentlessly prepared and trained to reflect Jesus in every area of life.

The key to the relentless discipleship of the Holy Spirit is to understand God's heart for us; to partake of His compassion and desire to be with us, to be overwhelmed by His delight in us.

When we are overwhelmed by His nature then the delight that fills us empowers us to walk in His relentless passion to make us like Him. He uses everything to fill us with Himself and we are therefore practicing the art of taking advantage of His grace at every opportunity.

It was a great event and I am confident that we will see a number of warriors, champions and game changers take their place on the front line of the Kingdom life from this region.

As ever, thanks for standing on the shield wall.

Graham

TWC Testimonies

Quotes taken from Rick Roberts – Discovery Team:

We have 4 relationships with God and we can go between them as needed.

It's not a linear journey - I'm this, then I'm this. It's I can be this with Papa when I need to be this.

People I brought with me were saying that those ideas were powerful and it was a relief to be able to be a baby some times, growing up on others and a mature son at other times and God is okay with that. What a relief!

I plan to explore those relationships more as I'm teaching a class on Fathers and Sons; it goes along perfectly with what Graham taught at Growing Up In God!

"It's impossible to grow up into Jesus if everything is going well."

That statement hit hard and it took a few minutes to process, but I did. It was a comfort that will grow over time as well.

As we travel farther in TWC I think we all recognize that the warfare is increasing and will increase. It's a delight to know that it all has purpose and life attached in it. It makes the journey sweeter, intentional, and richer to walk out as we go deeper, climb higher and run faster. It's nice to know that we win and we do it together; that's what TWC is all about!

Quotes taken from Jan Durham – Discovery Team:

We are learning the language of promise, not the language of defeat.

The secret to passing the test is confession - Confess who you are in Christ!

Don't avoid sin, develop righteousness.

When you focus on a negative, you give it life.

Grace is the empowering presence of God to enable you to become the person God sees when He looks at you.

Accountability is not calling you out, it's calling you up to your identity.

People don't read their Bible, they read their Christians.

Aglow International Conference September 25-29, 2013

It is estimated that Aglow impacts 17 million people on the earth each year, whether they are members or the ones to whom Aglow ministers to. Local groups are called "Lighthouses" and they are rising to a new level of brilliance. "Every nation touched. Every heart changed" is the mission of Aglow and it is to be accomplished through personal connections that create Kingdom impact.

Aglow's current season is one of thanksgiving for their 45 years of seeing God's faithfulness, yet a strong commitment to discover who God has made them to be now and in the future.

Graham did three sessions with over a 1,000 leaders from all over the world prior to the general conference.

Graham began by doing three sessions with over 1,000 leaders at the Global Summit that preceded the general conference. He projected that in five years, Aglow as we know it would be unrecognizable - so great are the provisions and promises available to this Kingdom community. By speaking on identity, possibilities and favor, he was giving them a compass for navigating all that is on offer from heaven.

It was time to hand out new lenses for seeing who God is for Aglow now.

Graham went on to encourage the leaders to focus on the dynamics of cultural transition; "It is the goodness of God that brings people to repentance. Let's get their neighborhoods transformed, their bodies healed and do miracles that demonstrate how brilliant God really is."

"After all" Graham said, "Jesus decided, 'I'll do the lesser miracles and save the really amazing ones for you'. Miracles like Peter's shadow healing people. Jesus never did that!" Aglow has a tremendous inheritance to step into, but the key is identity. "If you know who you are, it's not hard. It's very hard if you don't."

Graham continued his mentoring by encouraging leaders, "Good leaders don't answer questions, they ask really great ones. We facilitate people thinking for themselves.... Focus, focus, focus, focus on the New Man." "We can't want new, but think old."

In the general session on Sunday to all Aglow delegates, Graham gave strong encouragement regarding the "quickenning spirit of prayer". Through worship, rejoicing and stillness, align yourself with what heaven is praying and declare it now. Step boldly into the immediate and declare it.

Graham with Tony Hoyt and a wonderful boy who flagged during worship.

All the spiritual "disciplines", including prayer, need to be rooted in delight, not desperation. "Desperation can take us out of laziness," Graham expanded, "but it is delight and trust that we'll need to inherit the promises and provisions of God. Delight develops a language of promise through the language of God's favor."

"Logic requires information. Faith requires a promise."

He continued:

"Aglow is rising as a global community and we're going to take the favor that's on us and start giving it away to the people around us. The law of life in Christ is that as you give it will be given back to you. So take your favor and spend it on someone else and it will come back to you so you'll have more to give away. Practice the favor of God in your communities so you can give it away like presents on Christmas - to the sick, the poor and the wicked. No more negativity. No more talk of lack. Aglow is becoming the place where no one is safe from a blessing."

He ended this amazing gathering by declaring favor, upon favor, upon favor, upon favor for Aglow to arise into.

In the marketplace, Brilliant Perspectives, along with Allison, created an atmosphere where folks could connect with the resources that could follow through their break throughs. We heard grateful stories of how Graham's teaching had impacted lives and listened to people's journeys to help them find the instruction that best supported where they were going next. Ben and Melissa Klein gave people an encounter with graciousness as they paid for their items and Jenny Taylor provided the visionary and practical lead for us all to follow. Graham and Theresa came by often and people delighted in getting to have a chat as their books were signed.

Personally, I love this assignment. Aglow is a present-future network that is partnering with Graham and others to come into the fullness of all God has created them to be. Jane Hansen-Hoyt, Aglow's leader, continues to rise fearlessly and strategically into the next level, communicating Aglow's course with wisdom, courage and vision. Few communities of this size have the foresight and boldness to step into what's possible, not stay in the "safe-zone" of what already is.

Disney World can't compare to the wild, joyous ride of Aglow!

Thanks for your prayers and your intel. It was spot on in many ways. Months of preparation, intercession and rejoicing went into these strategic days... and it was time well spent. All our logistical challenges were overcome and the world-wide community of Aglow came into clearer Kingdom focus yet again. - Allison

Allison on WTIS Radio

WTIS 1110AM
Radio

Inspiration Radio

May I say that Allison has to be one of the easiest guests to invite onto a radio program? Just sayin'. A couple of emails back and forth and we were good to go. The topic we would be discussing: Christian Service. Our objective was to “flip a mindset”, to borrow her phrase. Too many people head out with the determination to do something for God and to help a hurting world, but their approach and the resulting experience is often one of struggle and sacrifice culminating in burn-out. We wanted to present the alternative—service flowing out of a relationship with God that is so rich and loving it fuels a passion to share that love with others.

So, with the help of technology, Allison dropped into our studio last Tuesday and we were off and running. In the course of 45 minutes she shared challenging and positive perspectives that absolutely lit up the studio. One elderly listener called to say it was the most amazing explanation of serving that she had ever heard in her more than 50 years of volunteering in ministry. (Too bad nobody got to her sooner, eh?)

Try a few of these thoughts on for size:

- “Never do ministry in response to need because the need is endless.”
- In response to the common practice of drumming up volunteers en masse to accomplish worthy exploits...“That makes great sense. The funny thing about God though is that He so rarely deals in logic.”
- Satan’s second best strategy (after trying to keep us “couch potatoes”) is...“Bring every good thing along in hopes that we’ll try to do it all and burn out.”
- And the big shift of moving from “trying harder to do better for God” to “Service is an overflow, not a goal.”

We had a chance to touch on the nature of God, our identity (and His!) and the fruits of the Spirit. It was a rich time that sped by quickly and culminated with Allison’s remark: “When people encounter us, they should encounter something of what God is like.” That’s it! To use her words, when we live integrated lives fueled by our relationship with God, “It’s all life in God,” and everything we do—“all acts of worship.”

TWC Training Day

#1 – TWC Declaration for Mind of a Saint impact.

For every open seat at Mind of a Saint, we are promised 100 radically transformed lives from the CDs, DVDs and Live Cast.

AND

Each of those 100 radically transformed people will release radical transformation in 100 more lives through their testimony and sharing of Mind of a Saint materials.

That's 10,000 radically transformed lives for each open seat.

This promise places us on the offensive and says to the enemy, "Let Graham's inheritance go." You will regret the day you thought this resistance was a good idea. The numbers for MOAS are rising, but it's still a good fight.

Graham considers this a powerful sword to fight with because it is both present and future. A promise we can go back to and say "Lord you said".

#2 – TWC Declaration Points over all of Mind of a Saint.

We declare that Mind of a Saint:

- Is an epicenter for history-makers, game-changers and champions to rise.
- Shakes religious mindsets to reveal unshakeable Truth.
- Releases a universal love language for Kingdom thinking and expression into the earth
- Is a NEW thing, prepared before time, that changes everything.

Thank you that:

- Crystal clear, deep Truth untangles lifetimes of confusion.
- Thinking, behavior, language and faith is radically transformed by how God REALLY thinks and how endless His heart is for us.
- Impossibles are truly annihilated by God's possibilities - in lives, in finances and in national impact.
- The unity of one heart, one mind and one voice that shatters sound barriers to God's true nature in religious minds.

#3 - Declaration For Graham:

We rejoice that:

- Mind of a Saint is a glorious win for the Kingdom, for Jesus and for Graham
- Graham steps into his inheritance as a Chief Ambassador for the Mind of Christ
- Financial ripple effects are release here that loose and draw provision for his destiny

We declare:

- Graham's inheritance in people and finances be released and increased. For every day they are withheld, we want double in return.
- A Red Sea moment: As Graham moves forward towards the impossible, opposition is overwhelmed by goodness.
- God will help him. He will uphold him with His righteous right hand. He is making Graham a sharper, more powerful weapon.

MOAS delegate Crafted Prayer

Captivate my heart today Lord.
Thank you that Your mind is mine,
Your wisdom is my inheritance,
Your steadfast love for me never ends.

Captivate my heart today Lord.
Let me see and hear as You do.
Teach me Your higher ways.

I rejoice that Your peace stills my storms.
Your joy gives me strength.
Your delight in me overwhelms any doubt, worries or fear.
You exchange my impossibles for Your possibilities.

I am Your wonderful creation, becoming a brilliant thinker and communicator of who You really are and who I really am.

#4. Worship

In worship, we declare:

- The sound of the Mind of Christ is released - the sound of goodness, kindness, mercy, joy, strength, power and all authority in heaven and on earth.
- Love songs impart the new love language of the Father
- An atmosphere of peace and joy that allows Truth to rise up and renew minds
- Clarity and focus from God encounters that wash away shame, doubt and confusion
- A synergy of impartation and understanding that is transformational to the Body of Christ.

"Be Prepared: Graham will be releasing his 2014 schedule soon. When he does, some teams may receive a request for intel for his January and February events, so that we are prepared prior to the Worship Ebb. It will be a short turn around, but you're Warriors! You can do it. And we appreciate that."

TWC wide Worship Ebb begins Nov. 27 through January 5, 2014.

While we continue to pray for Graham and Theresa, we put down the work of training and active assignments to focus on our relationship with God, worship, renewal and family.

Once Graham's schedule for 2014 is released, teams will be assigned to submit intel in November for the January & February events so that the first of the year assignments will be ready to go.
