Arise! Women's Conference

Sacramento, CA
March 21-22

Arise! Women is an embryonic movement that came out Lutheran renewal into the mainstream church in recent years. Led by the effervescent Denise Siemens and an energetic ministry team, they are passionate about stretching the boundaries of freedom in Christ and being unbounded in the Holy Spirit.

This conference, titled: "His Joy, My Strength," is one of a series of events that I have spoken at in partnership with Denise and Co. I spoke on the subjects of: Freedom in Christ; Newness of Life; Fruit of the Spirit; Renewing your Spiritual Lens.

We had the same responses we always get from mainstream church people gathered for an event outside their normal constituency. "I've been in church for 37 (21, 26, 29, 34, etc.) years and I have never heard this truth spoken. Using careful biblical exegesis allied with testimony and personal experience we diligently plotted the course of what life in Jesus actually roles like to the father.

It is a battle for people to let go of any bondage but especially the religious kind that is semi-rooted in scripture. People have received consistent input that has made God seem capricious, unapproachable and hard to please. Guilt, shame, fear and condemnation are the normal Christian experience. People have been conditioned into sin consciousness, sin management and behavioral modification instead of freedom from sin, God consciousness and living in their identity in Christ. Truth has been twisted into bondage. Grace has been maligned by a performance mentality trying to earn blessing. Fear of sin has replaced God's goodness and kindness.

Battling these abnormal spiritual experiences is a large part of the focus for Brilliant Perspectives. In particular, setting people free to be amazed at Jesus; filled with wonder about the Father; and astonished at the power and wisdom of the helper, the brilliant Holy Spirit.

Frontline News

April 2014

All through the weekend people were waking up to the truth about who they are in Christ. The sanctuary was buzzing with excitement about seeing life in Jesus in a new and living way. It is always something of a paradox for me personally. On the one hand it is distressing to see so many lovely people captured by the false teaching, unaware of the beauty and majesty of Jesus. On the other hand it is exciting and humbling to see the Holy Spirit take the things that belong to Jesus and make them real to people... John 16:12-15.

It really is a Galatians 3:1-3 encounter. It is foolish to believe we are one perfected in a manner different than God has decreed. There is something so sad about believing that salvation is a gift but that sanctification is earned by performance. "Who has bewitched you?" i.e. who lied to you? Who tricked you into believing this religious nonsense?

This is strong language from Paul who was constantly battling false teaching throughout his entire ministry.

Through the medium of book publishing, magazines, radio, T.V. and now Internet, false teaching is a more virulent problem than Paul ever faced. The fight is ongoing and ruthless. It is a billion dollar industry that will defend its territory using lies, deceit and misrepresentation of the truth. The battle must be fought with grace, truth, and the nature of God. It must be conducted in humility, integrity and joy. It's hard for Pharisees to look outside the twisted theology of their own invention and prejudice. We must pray that enough Bereans will search the scriptures to see if these things are true. Acts 17:10-12.

If our teaching does not set people free to encounter God and develop experience of the Christ life for themselves then we must ask the question: "What has replaced freedom as our truth objective?"

This is a great fight to be involved in with the Holy Spirit. As ever it's always nice to have TWC in the event praying. Allison came for a day. I am enjoying not being alone in this battle.

It is for freedom that Christ has set us free.

Ellen Scharffenberg – Lionheart Team Leader

Graham's Friday evening "talk" on the fruits of the Spirit rocked my world. I have been playing that talk over and over since I heard it to make sure I have gathered all the treasure it offers. Graham shared that we need to be free to position ourselves to discover the majesty and sovereignty of God. Even though we know how to be free, Graham gave examples of how to use each fruit of the Spirit when our freedom is being threatened. By using a fruit of the Spirit in opposition to the negatives we are presented with, we truly exhaust the enemy, he can't even find us! Because we have responded with heaven's language and posture in our situations, we automatically present the love of Jesus and His life-changing perspective. It is Isaiah 61 at it's finest with beauty rising out of the ashes!

It is always great to gather with warriors from TWC who "stand shoulder to shoulder" with you in intercession for Graham. The Lionheart and Freedom Fighters had done the intel for this event and it was "spot on"! Not only were warriors standing "on the wall" in worship and prayer, they were also amazing people gatherers. Warriors just know how to infiltrate atmospheres and also how to include those they barely know or don't know at all. Holy Spirit just loves it!

Arise Sacramento was well worth making the time to go to. If Graham is speaking near where you can travel, take advantage of the opportunity and get there!

Judy Austin – Diamond Team Leader

Graham was his amazing and brilliant self at the Arise Women event in Sacramento. I was so blessed to attend it! The following is a little synopsis of what I received...

His first key was: "In the perception of God, your old life has already met its demise and is finished." (Rom 6:6) I love how Graham is partnering with God to break down old mindsets in order to encourage and challenge all the people he speaks to, to give up being present-past and to become and run with being present-future. He had many key points, but another that speaks loudly to me is:

"Everything the enemy seeks to bring against us, we can bring against him by moving in the opposite spirit."

The key point here is that we cannot continue to surrender our identity to negative emotions. He used Gal. 5:22 as examples of turning negatives into positives. I have a lot to process! Much of what I heard I have heard before from Graham, but I needed the refreshing, and the renewed motivation to continue in the walk God walks with me! Bless you, Graham!

Kathy Brown – Gold Team Leader

It always astonishes me how Graham can change the atmosphere wherever He is!

At the Women's Arise Conference in Sacramento Graham started with waking up the inner man with everyone shouting many times "RANAN!" Meaning – overcoming JOY! Joy that shatters limitations! He explained that this is the War Cry of Heaven. Jesus, for the JOY set before Him endured the cross! Wow! What a way to start this event! Graham as the "wisemaster builder" (TWC crafted prayer) that he IS, piece by piece imparted Kingdom truths, changing mindsets and bringing people into new freedom!

I witnessed the fulfillment of TWC's crafted prayer for this event.

- Freedom in the fullness of God's goodness WAS released!
- A sense of adventure WAS stirred up!
- Eyes were OPENED to see from the elevated perspective of the Holy Spirit!

I treasure every time I can connect in person with someone from TWC! We share a commonality that is unusual and precious - our journey together in TWC! I am very grateful to be a part of this company of incredible warriors!

The TWC team leaders that were at the Sacramento Women's Arise event met with Allison for most of the afternoon on Saturday. What a wonderful time it was to connect with Allison and the other team leaders, asking questions and sharing the joy of life in TWC! Allison's leadership and vision is inspiring and contagious!

The Impact of a Permission Granted Culture

Aglow is currently on a journey of reinvention and development for their destiny in the 21st century. Graham continues to partner with Jane Hansen-Hoyt and the core leadership of Aglow to gauge their progress, scout for those who can pioneer this process and create a path of equipping and development towards the massive Kingdom assignment Aglow carries.

Last June, a group of leaders gathered in this same location to be trained in the GameChanger teachings. The purpose was to scout and develop those with a passion to grasp and lead this process of redefinition for Aglow. They were given assignments to work on during the next six months, a new experience for most.

I felt that I saw some significant upgrades this time, as many more seemed to arrive with the understanding that these sessions were a beginning for the next level, not an event that ended on Saturday. There were excellent tools put into their hands during the event and opportunities to activate their learning, as in the "Stuff I'm Giving Back" list. The focus in these meetings was the LifeChanger process that we desire to see all Aglow members encounter: a process of development that focused on the New Man where people are meant to encounter transformation through both knowledge and experience.

Graham took the subject of New Man and delivered 5 targeted laser shots of truth, each with five to six "Keys". Here is a sampling:

The Newness of Life in Christ:

- Key: The language of God gives us confidence and certainty.
- Key: God gives you permission to step into His thinking about you, so that in that place He can create a lifestyle of who you are becoming (Rom. 6:11)
- Key: Your real power is created from your awareness of God.
- Key: Identify your lifestyle through the language that God is using to describe how He sees you.

On Grace:

- Key: Grace is not undeserved favor. It is the empowering presence of God that enables you to become the person God sees every time He looks at you.
- Key: When the enemy is radically opposing us, grace only needs to be sufficient to overwhelm him.
- Key: Grace is the catalyst for our boldness and confidence in our relationship with God.
- Key: Grace must dominate everything.
- Key: When you give place to a negative, you frustrate the grace of God.

In Building a Spiritual Mindset:

- Key: We are practicing relational thinking. Our mindset in the Spirit must be built on the presence of God in us and the purpose of God for us.
- Key: The adoption as sons takes places in our circumstances.
- Key: God is training us for sonship – relentlessly.
- Key: Building the right mindset is the key to healthy emotions.

On the Practical Applications of the New Man:

- Key: God gives you a new vocabulary to explore life as a New Man.
- Key: God is preoccupied with the New You.
- Key: You can't mix the Old Man with the New Man.
- Key: God is not dealing with our behavior but our identity in Christ.
The natural mind can't cope with the lifestyle of Christ.

Aglow is an on-going assignment for TWC, led by the Warrior Eagles team but one that we can all pray regularly for. Graham has sown into this community for over eight years and will be speaking at both the U.S. and Canadian national conferences later this year. It's an opportunity to explore how to upgrade a culture into the next level of their destiny on a global scale. It's a big assignment and an even greater opportunity for us all.

Kathy Sanders getting ready to dig up her Old Man

Rick Allen and Graham - Aglow Men!

Excerpt from the Aglow Skit: "Your Old Man is DEAD.. Leave Him Alone!"

Scene: Kathy Sanders is in her "digging clothes", searching through the audience, trying to find her way to the grave yard. She sneaks along, undetected, until her friend Linda finds her there.

Linda: What are you doing here Kathy? It's late and it's creepy here.

Kathy: My Old Man is buried there and ... I came to dig him up.

Linda: (shocked) That's so sick! You're gonna dig up your DAD? (laughter)

Kathy: No silly. You got the spirit of stupid!!! Not my Dad, MY Old Man, the person I was before I met Jesus! You've heard Graham teach about this. Your Old Man died with Jesus and was buried and all your old "Stuff" stays in there. But he's got things I neeeded. Things I wonder about. Things that need fixing!!

Linda: Haven't you listened to what Graham has been teaching us about that?

Kathy: Uh.... no.... not really.... (huge laugh)

Linda: We're a present FUTURE people. Not present- past. That means that we don't let anything from our past determine our future. When we ask Jesus into our lives... You did ask Jesus into your life, right?

Kathy: (insulted) Of course! I wouldn't have an Old Man to dig up otherwise!

Linda: Well then, the Bible says that when we asked Jesus into our lives, old things passed away - like your Old Man - and ALL things became new.

Kathy: But what about all that stuff in my family that needs fixing?

Linda: When God took you put you in the Kingdom, that stuff didn't come across with you. All that sickness and sin.. all that stuff your Old Man was so good at. Like your sarcasm, cynicism, that nasty temper of yours...

Kathy: HEY! Careful there. (makes a fist) You're fixing to get some five fold ministry sister!

Linda: All that stuff stayed in the grave!

Kathy: But what if I need my family history? You mean I don't need that stuff - just in case?

Linda: Nope, You don't need it. I'm sure of that. It's in the past. Remember what Graham said?

Kathy: Uh... Graham said something about this??

Linda: (holding her head) YES! This is illegal behavior. Put down that shovel and let's get out of here. There's nothing you need in this grave yard. Let your "stuff" alone. It's dead and you're alive. Now... let's go!

This was a wonderful, joyful way to highlight how silly out thinking can be. It doesn't translate completely in print, but I loved the creativity and fun of bringing this truth to life!

Bob Book Music

LifeChangers

by Bob Book

For me, this was an interesting and wonderful event!

Interesting, because I was working through some minor physical, vocal and audio issues, during the course of the weekend. In addition, the Texas Learning Center at the Omni Park West Hotel, in Dallas, is designed like a terraced college lecture room. This means that everyone is behind long, built-in tables, which is great for taking notes, but a little challenging to facilitate worship engagement.

Wonderful, because no one there allowed the potential challenges to dictate their level of engagement with God's presence and worship! While GameChangers (held last year in the same venue with, largely, the same group of people) seemed to me to have an "exciting event" quality about it, folks seemed to arrive at LifeChangers really engaged in the ongoing process of transformation - ready to take new steps into Kingdom destiny.

This was reflected in the way they approached the worship times and it allowed me to be more of a worship facilitator, than worship leader.

Wonderful!

I am excited and encouraged by what I see happening in Aglow and want to express my admiration for the way the leadership is intentionally and relentlessly pursuing this journey of transformation. What a joy to be part of this journey!

Thanks again to those of you in TWC who are praying for Barb and I. You are making a difference and that difference was tangible at LifeChangers!

A 21st Century Game Changer is...

Someone who sees truth work in them first.

Someone who converts problems into possibilities.

Someone who practices their identity until they get it right.

Someone who learns how to work with the Holy Spirit on their own reinvention.

Someone who sees things differently, has a brilliant way of thinking and has a new language for their lifestyle.

Someone who finds joy in the journey.

Someone who has been changed beyond all recognition.

Someone who is a warrior and a champion, who is learning to overcome and they are become MORE than a conqueror.

Someone who makes something happen.

Someone who has favor in the eyes of God.

Someone who has resources attached to their identity and has become a resource to others.

Someone who understand majesty and knows that the Father has never been overwhelmed.

Level 1 Training Call

Level 1 Training Call

by Teresa Morrison

We had our first Level 1 Training Call for 2014.

There were 19 people on the call! We answered questions that members sent in ahead of time, here are some of the questions:

- How do I gain confidence in my training process?
- Which Training Journals should I focus on for Level 1?
- How creative can we be with Crafted Prayers?
- Discussing the process of assembling your Level 1 to send in. What are we looking for? How does that work?

We had an open dialog about confidence which is one topic that seems to come up a lot. One way that confidence is built is through discovering who you are IN HIM. Personally, I started my Level 1 Training with my ID Statement, it changes and gets upgraded as I see myself as God sees me. It is the perfect love of God that casts out all fear, and brings me to a place of security and confidence IN HIM.

Another question was about which Training Journals go with Level 1 Training. We have posted Training Journal #3 - Kingdom Identity and #7 - Powerful Questions on our website as resources. These are only a starting point, there are 11 other Training Journals to look over. A whole library. If you find a wellspring that assisted you during your training, feel free to mention it on our FB page.

Crafted Prayer, how creative can we be? I love to chat about this topic! Many of you have recently gone through the application process there were some pointers on crafting a prayer:

Each line should be a lightning strike with purpose for a specific target.

Write as if you were paying for every word of a telegram.

Make every word count.

Your prayer should be from 6-10 lines.

"Long enough to be powerful, short enough to memorize." ~ Graham

Allison gave a great illustration of this; we have all heard Graham say that "Rest is a Weapon." This came from Graham journaling three pages on rest, reducing it to one and cutting it to one sentence, then narrowing it down to a one-liner. It packs a huge punch, and carries weight in the Spirit! A really good illustration!

Lastly, we discussed the process of assembling your Level 1 Training. The idea is to keep a word document on your computer saving your process and backing it up. As far as the process goes you decide where you start. Level 1 was not written as a step by step process. You can start wherever you would like. I started with #3 my ID Statement. You have the freedom to begin wherever the Holy Spirit highlights. This training is for you!

Thank you for all of your comments on our FB Page following the call. We're glad that it answered some of your key questions. Stay tuned for more training calls in the near future. I enjoyed hearing and recognizing your voices from the interview process, no doubt you all have hit the ground running, I admire your excellence upon arrival!

The transcript is posted on our FB Page and on our website under: Training / Level 1.

I finished listening to the call and will say that I could not be available at call time but had many of the same questions. Thanks Allison and Teresa for all your wisdom and confidence-building. " I can see clearly now, the rain is gone, I can see no obstacles in my way. Gone are the dark clouds that had blinded me. It's gonna be a bright, bright, bright Son-Shiny day."

It's gonna be a bright, bright, bright Son-Shiny day."

Krica Flaming

My thoughts are on the references to the "one liners" that carry the weight of majesty because they have the weight of the process held within them.

Often when I am in the middle of something and I am needing God's favor instantly, it's the one liners that come to me and I quote immediately.

Wahoo! I can't loose...

Thanks Allison Bown!

Doris Ann Chapman

I listened to the recorded version. Really helpful feedback about the process and about confidence. I love that it is not about ticking off the to-do list for this level, but about the evidence. And "thank you" to whoever said they started with their identity statement. It was a huge leap for me. I have been doing identity for so long, and going through the steps felt so tedious. However, wanting to be a good soldier and persevere, I now have an upgrade. I started listing my identity and it is fabulous!

Now to see the evidence. One piece of feedback: in the beginning, I didn't know which of you glorious ladies were teaching since I don't know your voices, so for us newbie's, that might be helpful. Thank you.

Brilliant Perspectives Intercession Wave

Thank you for the wave of prayer every Sunday!

Time to declare the FAVOR over BP and Brilliant Events. (as close to 8 am in your time zone if possible - see last Intercession Update for more info)

This is a time for focus and passion to see the emergence of a broader Brilliant Perspectives community. These are gathering places for reformation and key to our next level in America. These events are also Graham's inheritance, promised to be his provision and opportunity less travel and more writing because of their size and impact.

Read "The Fight God Initiates" in the Training Journal - that's the Brilliant Events and TWC is learning how to police the heavens! Game on. Let's stay focused on this.
